- The first book to provide detailed critical analysis of institutional initiatives in trust arbitration
- Offers in-depth coverage of national, international, and comparative internal trust arbitration issues, such as the applicability of the New York and Hague Trust Conventions and initiatives from the AAA, ACTEC, ETLC, and ICC
- Written by a leading team of authors with expertise in both trust law and arbitration law, from multiple international jurisdictions and with a wealth of practical experience

This book discusses recent and anticipated developments concerning trust arbitration in a variety of domestic and cross-border settings. In so doing, the text not only provides necessary information about the special nature of national and international trust arbitration, it also bridges the gap between trust law and arbitration law by bringing together authors with expertise in both fields. Furthermore, this book is the first to provide detailed and critical analysis of various institutional initiatives in the area of trust arbitration and to offer in-depth coverage of various national, international, and comparative issues, including the applicability of the New York Convention and the Hague Trust Convention to internal trust arbitration. As a result, this book is a must-have for specialists in both trust law and arbitration law.
